All,

The Protective Order still has not been entered in the Adversary Proceeding. Do all parties agree on the draft of the Order we circulated on December 18, 2024? It appears that the Trive Defendants and the Damani Defendants are signed off. We are available to meet and confer should the parties have any additional questions.

Thanks,
Mike

Quinn Team,

Thanks. We are ok with this draft, and we are willing to agree to your proposed removal of the Highly Confidential tier from the draft, and your inclusion of the Noteholders as "Qualifying Persons." However, the Trive Defendants may have concerns sharing sensitive, confidential information with the Noteholders (just as we assume the Noteholders will have corresponding concerns sharing sensitive financial information with the Trive Defendants). Given this, the Trive Defendants reserve the right to seek amendment to add a Highly Confidential designation at a later time in the event sensitive information is requested and produced that requires additional protection beyond that provided for by the initial Protective Order. We have added a provision to that effect in the draft, as reflected in the attached redline.

Subject to that reservation, we are ok with the draft.

Best,
Mike

Counsel:

Please find attached our revisions to the protective order, which incorporate edits from Wilmer Hale and AO Shearman. Since Wilmer and AO Shearman had very differing edits, we're not providing a redline. I'm also adding to this chain counsel for Mr. Kassam, who I understand is seeing this proposed confidentiality stipulation for the first time and may need additional time to review.

For ease of review, there are a few topics on which the parties may need to meet and confer where we did not accept edits:

- Wilmer's proposed introduction of a Highly Confidential tier
- Wilmer's proposed limiting access to Confidential materials to in house counsel only
- Wilmer's removal of the Noteholders in their capacity as assignors of claims' ability to view confidential materials
- AO Shearman's removal of a provision in which a producing party waives its designation if it does not provide the basis for the designation following a challenge

This is not an exhaustive list of changes we did not accept (for example there were conflicts in both firms' edits to the claw back provisions, though we hope the way we synthesized these is not controversial) but the ones that we suspect may be a sticking point that need to be discussed live. That said, I encourage everyone to compare this draft with the version of edits you sent us in case there are provisions that you feel strongly about that I didn't raise.

Best,
Mario

All: Good morning. Where do we stand on finalizing the Protective Order? Our clients (the Trive parties) have produced documents to the Trustee, but haven't been able to review documents products by any other parties to the Trustee, because of the absence of a Protective Order. We need to get the Order finalized and entered. Thank you. Phil
